Management vs. Leadership

- Management gives you a position not Leadership, you don't need a position to be a leader
- People hate a Boss, which spelt backwards is "double S O B", people want leadership
- Leaders are not moody they are consistent
- Leaders are a lighthouse not a weather vane
- Leaders are not arrogant, people trust them

Management vs. Leadership

- Leaders are first to apologise
- Leaders set extraordinary versus ordinary goals
- Managers make excuses (victims) leaders don't
- Leaders seize the moment and recognise the magnitude of the opportunity
- Leaders listen but make decisions, they don't always seek consensus

Vision in Action

Peter Drucker story – classic illustration – POWER of Vision

3 stonecutters – why are you cutting stones?

1st one:
“because I need the money”

2nd one:
“because I’m a good stonecutter”

3rd one – hardest working:
“because I’m building a cathedral”

What Managers really believe about people and how they treat them, will largely determine how well the Company will fare in the future

Communication

Only 7% of communication is verbal

WHERE ?

By the coffee machine

In meetings

On the phone

On video

At lunch

On e-mail

On the plane

At home!!

We communicate all day long and don't realise it!

- ▶ How we listen
- ▶ What and how we say it
- ▶ What and how we don't say it
- ▶ What we do and don't do
- ▶ When and how often do we do the above

Types of Listening

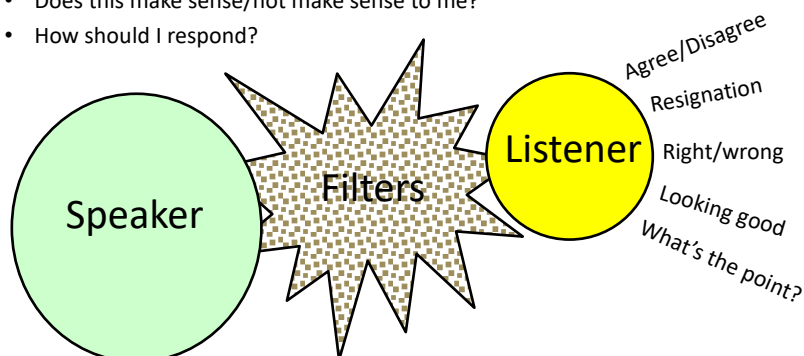

Automatic Listening

- Do I agree/disagree?
- Is this right/wrong?
- Do I believe it/not believe it?
- Does this fit/not fit with what I know?
- Does this make sense/not make sense to me?
- How should I respond?

Automatic Listening

No choice

No possibilities

Generated or Created Listening

Generated listening does not happen automatically. It is listening that you intentionally create. It is listening for what is possible, for what the speaker is committed to, for how we can contribute to the speaker's idea.

Listening for:

- ❖ Possibility
- ❖ Commitment
- ❖ Creative What if ...?
- ❖ Generous

What would that allow for? What's the possibility that they are speaking about?
What are they committed to?
What are his concerns, feelings and experiences?

Issue

- Measures drive behaviour
- Excellence measures of performance often conflict with traditional measures of performance
- We need therefore to:
 - Challenge and change individual measures and rewards

Vision

- Vision without action is just a dream...
- Action without vision is just passing time...
- Vision with action can change the world!
